rapid hardening concrete admixture

rapid hardening concrete admixture is a kind of high performance superplasticizer, is a kind of cement dispersant in the cement concrete application, it has the very strong dispersing effect to the cement particle, may comprehensively enhance or improve the concrete each kind of performance.

Application

Suitable for plain concrete, reinforced concrete, prestressed concrete, high strength high performance concrete, suitable for all types of concrete.

Usage:

rapid hardening concrete admixture can be used alone, also can be mixed with other additive, mixture retarded high efficiency water reducing agent, efficient air-entraining water reducer series of agent, efficient mortar admixture and fully meet the engineering category, construction technology, construction technology and the requirement of temperature conditions, according to the provisions of the "technical specification for concrete admixture applications for construction.

Product Features:

After adding rapid hardening concrete admixture, it has good compatibility with all kinds of cement, the concrete slump maintains the performance well, extends the concrete construction time, does not lose the slump within half an hour, reduces the water rate high, reduces the shrinkage and so on the characteristic.

Service

We supply synthesis recipe for producing water reducing type PCE, slump retention type PCE, set retarding type (long slump retention type) PCE, early strength type PCE. we always proud to serve your requirement with
